

Press Statement: An Update on Our Show Dates

Norwalk, CT (March 17, 2020)—As the global community unites in efforts to curtail COVID-19 coronavirus, every day brings new developments. After careful consideration and comprehensive discussions, we have decided that the JCK & Luxury shows will be postponed to later in the year due to the growing concerns over public health and safety and the escalation of COVID-19. As soon as we work out the details for a new date in 2020 for JCK & Luxury, we will immediately share them with all of you. We expect to be able to do so shortly.

Our top priority is the health and safety of our exhibitors, attendees, industry partners and staff. After consulting with national experts, our customers, closely monitoring developments and reviewing guidance and advice from renowned national public health officials, the United States Centers for Disease Control (CDC) and the World Health Organization (WHO), we have decided it is in the best interest of all our JCK community to postpone the Show.

We are grateful to our customers for all their support and constructive input during this challenging period. JCK is privileged to be one of your most anticipated jewelry buying experiences of the year, and we look forward to bringing the industry together again and creating a memorable event later in the year when it is safe to do so.

With that in mind, please make sure to check with your airlines, hotels, flights and any other arrangements, to understand their policies. Information regarding airline change fee waivers is available on our website.

We are all in this together.
